*In the case of CNCPS, we have provided children legal aid as well as psycho-social support. In some cases, we have also provided economic support. Although this leads to double counting, in effect each service provided is distinct and through staff specialising in different areas.

BUDGET FOR CHILDREN (BFC)

Published and disseminated “Budget for Children 2021-22 Cast in Shadows”

Overall decline of children’s share in the Union Budget, from 3.16% in 2020-21 to 2.46% in 2021-22, lowest in the last ten years.

As per Overall Allocations for the Welfare of Children in 2021-22, the financial outlays for the Department of School Education and Literacy have reduced by 9.71 per cent. This decrease is questionable in the context of the New Education Policy, 2020 which is focussed towards inclusive education and improving the quality of education. Even though COVID has led to online classes, the fact that many children do not have the equipment and internet connection has not been taken into account while preparing the budget.

Merger of schemes with reduced budgets has been the trend in the child development and child protection sector.

SPECIAL PROJECTS

CHILD MARRIAGE PREVENTION

- Strengthening networking amongst peer leaders and AGG –
Due to restricted mobility during the pandemic, cluster-wise e-girls group were formed in the project areas, which helped in staying connected with them. These groups were a big source of information. The teams in West Bengal and Rajasthan were able to mentor girls as and when required during the pandemic.
- Inter-sectoral Dialogue on Child Marriage Prevention and response – In September 2019, after an external review of the project an inter-sectoral dialogue on child marriage prevention and response was jointly organised by HAQ and SAHAJ. Why Child Marriages continue to challenge us? - Discussion Paper - 1/2020 based on the inter-sectoral dialogue was prepared by Enakshi Ganguly and Neelam Singh in July 2020.

- Study on the impact of COVID on adolescent girls in the two states of Rajasthan and West Bengal – A quick assessment of the impact of lockdown during the COVID pandemic on adolescent girls was undertaken in the project areas in West Bengal and Rajasthan, collecting views and perceptions of girls on increase in violence, child marriage, mental trauma, anxiety, depression and issues relating to access to education and health services.

- Raising the age of marriage to 21 years and child protection concerns –

A Task Force was constituted by the Central Government to address the need for raising the age of marriage for girls from 18 to 21 years. The proposal drew attention from several groups across the country including HAQ. Joint submissions were prepared and sent to the Task Force and other concerned authorities against the move.

Even as HAQ continues to explore what can help prevent child marriages and improve the system and societies' response to child marriage, increasing criminalization of adolescents entering into a wedlock out of choice or due to prevalence of child marriage has been a concern. To HAQ there is a need to focus on sexual and reproductive rights, life skills, education and vocational skilling of girls instead of making changing laws in the name of child protection. As part of the National Coalition Advocating for Adolescent Concerns (NCAAC), HAQ has been sharing its concerns on such issues at various national and international platforms, including joining the efforts by PLD to draw attention of members of the CEDAW and CRC Committee.

- Study on Annulment of Child Marriages –
In 2018 HAQ, along with MJAS embarked on a study on annulment of child marriages as certain complexities were noticed on the ground with respect implementation of the annulment provisions in the Prohibition of Child Marriage Act, 2006. Based on 20 case studies along with FGDs with adolescent girls, lawyers and various authorities and civil society organisations, the study is finally concluded and published in the form of a report titled, “Bal Vivaah: Kanooni aur Samaajik Jatiltayein”.
